Officers of the 1st and 2nd Cavalry Regiments are in the city.

Improvised Military Ceremony at the Palace of the Army on Saturday Afternoon.

An impressive military drill took place at the Palace of the Army on Saturday afternoon. The drill was performed by the 1st and 2nd Cavalry Regiments.

GO SAVE THE KING!

The American people are now in a position to support the King of the Belgians. The King is a brave and noble man who has been the victim of a cruel and unjust conspiracy.

GRIPPE

Is infectious, not contagious. This very condition makes SCOTT'S EMULSION the more valuable. If taken at this time, when the ailment is so prevalent, it will often ward off the attack. SCOTT'S EMULSION is successful in this respect because it nourishes the blood and supplies strength to the tissues of the throat and lungs. Weakness and low condition breed grippe. SCOTT'S EMULSION furnishes strength and vitality. "Just as good as SCOTT'S" is something entirely different.

IMPORTANT DECISION REGARDING JURISDICTION OF REVENUE

An important decision regarding the jurisdiction of Provincial Courts was handed out today by Judge McKeown.

James O'Connell, who was charged with the offence of passing counterfeit money, was brought before the court.

The case was heard by Judge McKeown, who gave judgment in favour of the Crown.

The decision was a landmark one, as it settled a long-standing question of law.

The court held that Provincial Courts have jurisdiction over such cases.

This decision will have a significant impact on the legal system.

The case was argued by counsel for both sides.

The judgment was delivered in a clear and concise manner.

The court's decision is expected to be followed by other courts.

The case was heard in a public session.

The decision is a victory for the Crown.

The case was heard by a single judge.

The decision is final and cannot be appealed.

(Copyright, 1906, by Robert N. Lee.)

When Jennie returned to Vienna and was once more detained in her luxurious rooms at the Palace Strahlenheim, she resolved to find time to accept of the Daily Boga, forwarded to her under cover as a registered letter. The girl would not mind the editor had failed to make the most of the news she had sent him. As she opened out the paper she saw the great black headlines that extended across two columns, and the news itself, dated not from Venice, but from the city of Rome, was a good deal longer than that ordinarily met in the paper and was doubly loaded. The headings were startling enough.

could you have any objection to dressing up as a nice young man, Jemima?"

"Oh very much, rather not. I hope you didn't suggest that to the prince."

The princess laughed merrily and shook her head.

"Oh! I told him I believed that you could solve the mystery if any one could, and, remembering what you had done in that affair of the diamonds, my husband has the greatest faith in you. I would not ask an impossible, but I think the authorities here will be reluctant to allow a woman to have any part in the search. They have very old fashions."

"It is pure Chicago, Jennie, pure Chicago."

The handings were startling enough. These short women in Austria appreciate her proper place is presiding over a tea table.

"When it they only know it," said Janine, archly, "some things have been discovered over a teacup within our own memories."

"That is quite true," replied the princess, "but we can hardly give the incident as a recommendation to the Austrian authorities. By the way, have you noticed that no paper in Vienna said a single word about the robbery of the war chest? It must have been telegraphed very promptly from London, and yet they do not even dare in which is the usual way of meeting the truth."

The policy of Mr. Maitland, the Governor-General, "has not varied. Before the invasion of Natal we would have accepted of any moderate and reasonable terms, but the moment the invasion occurred and the Boers had fired the first shot, the Government have decided that not one shred of the independence which the Boers had abused should ever again be conceded to them."

The Conservatives, cheering loudly, rose to their feet and sang the hymn, "God Save the Queen," in honor of the Queen and made the Chamber ring with applause again.

"The Government," continued Mr. Chamberlain, "challenged the Opposition at the general elections on the issue of the annexation of the Transvaal again. (Renewed cheering.) To-night six pro-Boers have spoken as against the Government, and I have heard Sir Robert Field object to the the Government that the occupation of the Peking-Shan-Hai-Kwan Railway is only temporary, and that the railroad and its equipment would be restored at the end of the occupation. Hsinia's assurances respecting the railroad were repeated by the Japanese. Their occupation was purely temporary. Lord Cranborne added: "I am bound to say that in all our dealings with the Chinese Government on this matter we have been received the most friendly way. We have no complaint whatever to make against the Government of the Chair."

"The True Benjamin Franklin" is a story to illustrate Franklin's frugality and method of acquiring property. One day, a young man called one evening on an old farmer to ask him how it was that the farmer had become rich. "I have not," said the old man, "and while he is telling it we might as well save the candle," said he and blew it out. "I have not," said he, "and while he is telling it we might as well save the candle," said he and blew it out.
